

Reconciliation
THROUGH RELATIONSHIPS

CAPABILITY · GETTING STARTED

A welcome, not a form.

If you can use email and a web browser, you can join RTR. Five gentle steps introduce you to the community — at your own pace, in your own words.

rightrelationship.ca

Five steps, plain words

Who you are, what you value, how you like to connect. Every question is asked in everyday language — no jargon, nothing technical.

Built to be readable

Generous type set in Atkinson Hyperlegible — a typeface designed by the Braille Institute for maximum legibility — with large, comfortable touch targets.

One clear action per screen

Every screen has exactly one primary button, named for what it actually does — “Schedule call,” never “Submit.”

You control the pace

Save and return anytime. Your profile is yours to shape, and nothing is shared until you choose to share it.

The background of the top section features a dark teal color with rounded corners. In the center, there are faint, light-colored silhouettes of three people's heads and shoulders, arranged in a triangular pattern as if they are in conversation. The text is overlaid on this background.

“Nothing about you is shown until you choose to share it.”

Consent is a design element of the platform — encoded in the components themselves, so no screen can accidentally break it.

Reconciliation

THROUGH RELATIONSHIPS

The relationship is the work.

rightrelationship.ca

In partnership with Reconciliation Through Relationships, in response to the Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Canada's Calls to Action.