

Shared understanding comes first.

Before anyone is matched, everyone completes the same journey of videos and readings — a common foundation for truth, listening, and respectful conversation.

Videos and readings

A short, curated set of learning materials builds the shared context every relationship deserves — at whatever pace works for you.

Progress you can see

Mark each step complete and watch your journey advance. You always know where you are and what comes next.

Learning unlocks matching

Recommendations open only after the journey is complete — so both people in every introduction begin from understanding.

“It makes sure everyone starts from a place of understanding.”

The learning-before-matching rule is deliberate. It is the foundation the whole platform is built on.
