

From first hello to sitting down together.

Once two people agree to connect, RTR gives the relationship room to grow — requests, messages, and meetings in one calm place.

Connection requests

A warm, low-pressure way to say “I would like to talk.” Nothing opens until the other person says yes.

Direct messaging

A private, one-to-one conversation — a quiet space to introduce yourselves and find common ground.

Meeting scheduling

Move from messages to a real conversation: schedule a video call or plan to meet locally, without leaving the platform.

“Conversation opens only after both people agree.”

Every connection is consensual, private, and paced by the two people in it.